CURRENT RESEARCH SUPPORT

T32 DE014320 (Sheridan PI) 09/2016-06/2021

Comprehensive Training in Oral and Craniofacial Sciences (COTC)

This is an established program designed to train the next generation of basic and clinical research faculty in oral and craniofacial research. The program uses a flexible graduate curriculum and established interdisciplinary research programs to provide high quality training and career development. Training is set in a highly interactive health sciences center that has support from the College of Dentistry, OSU Graduate School, OSU Center for Clinical and Translation Science (OSU CCTS) and the NIDCR. The OSU CCTS is funded by a multi-year Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) from the National Institutes of Health, and provides financial, organizational, and educational support to the COTC.

Role: Faculty Mentor

R01 NR01366 (Christian PI) 08/07/2013-7/31/2018 Total award: $1,923,854

Maternal Stress, Obesity, and Influenza Virus Vaccine Immunogenicity in Pregnancy

Examines effect of behavioral factors, particularly psychosocial stress and obesity, on maternal antibody responses to influenza virus vaccination, maintenance of maternal antibody levels through time of delivery, and efficiency of antibody transfer to the fetus.

T32 NR014225 (Salsberry PI) 06/2013-05/2018

Optimizing Health in Childhood: Interdisciplinary Training in Health Development

The overarching objective of this interdisciplinary training program is to prepare nurse scientists to understand how biology, social and environmental contexts intersect during childhood to influence life course health development and to use this knowledge to develop rigorous interdisciplinary programs of research to optimize health.

Role: Faculty Mentor

COMPLETED RESEARCH SUPPORT

March of Dimes (Lockwood Site PI) 06/2013-05/2016

Ohio Perinatal Collaborative

This grant establishes a multisite collaborative focused on genetic, biological, and behavioral factors predicting preterm birth

Role: Collaborating Faculty for Theme 5: Sociobiology of Racial Disparities in Preterm Birth.

Collaborative Pilot Program (Ramilo & Christian Co-PIs) 06/26/2014 – 07/01/2016 Total award: $50,000

OSU College of Medicine/Nationwide Children's Hospital

Effects of Prenatal Maternal Stress on Transcriptional Immune Profiles in Women and Infants: Implications for Antibody Responses to Vaccines

F31 NR014605-01 (Gillespie PhD Candidate) 06/12/2013-12/15/2015

Stressed-induced cellular immune alterations and implications for preterm birth

This study will examine a biopanel of inflammatory markers with the goal of predicting preterm birth risk among African American women

Role: Co-Sponsor/Faculty Mentor

Seed Grant (Feng PIs) 01/01/2014 – 12/31/2015

Total award: $25,000

OSU Department of Human Sciences

Prenatal and postnatal maternal stress, parenting, and children's physiological and behavioral regulation of stress during early childhood

Examines effects of prenatal stress exposure (as indicated by biomarkers and self-report) and parenting behavior on stress reactivity in 3-4 year olds.

Role: Co-Investigator

2P50 CA105632-06 (Paskett PI) 05/01/10-04/31/15

Center for Population Health and Health Disparities: Reducing Cervical Cancer in Appalachia

Project 3: Stress and Immune Responses to HPV Vaccination (Ruffin PI)

Examines effects of psychosocial stress on antibody responses to HPV vaccination in Appalachian women.

Role: Co-Investigator

R21 HD067670 (Christian PI)

07/04/2011-06/30/2014

Total award: $419,375

Stress, Race, and Immune Adaptation Across Pregnancy: Predictors of Preterm Birth

Examines effects of psychosocial stress and racial minority status on adaptation of the immune system across pregnancy with assessment of serum cytokines, stimulated cytokine production, and EBV latency during each trimester among African-American and European-American women.

Innovative Initiative Grant (Bailey & Christian Co-PIs)

04/05/2012-04/04/2013

Total award: $50,000

The Ohio State University Food Innovation Center

Maternal Obesity and Child Temperament as Predictors of Childhood Obesity: Mediating Role of the Intestinal Microbiota.

Examines effects of maternal obesity and childhood temperament on the development of beneficial versus less beneficial microbiota in the gut of children 22-26 months of age, with the long-term goal of identifying environmental and behavioral pathways by which early life factors affect obesity risk.

R21 HD061644 (Christian PI)

8/15/2009-7/31/2012

Total award: $402,221

Physiological Reactivity to Acute Stress During Pregnancy

Examines cardiovascular, neuroendocrine, and immune reactivity to an acute laboratory stressor (Trier Social Stress Test) among pregnant and nonpregnant African-American and Caucasian women with the goal of delineating pathways by which chronic stress may contribute to racial disparities in preterm birth.

Seed Grant (Christian & Leblebicioglu Co-PIs)

10/01/09-09/30/11

Total award: $30,000

The Ohio State University College of Dentistry

Effects of Stress and Periodontal Disease on Immune Function During Pregnancy

Examines the interactive effects of psychological stress and periodontal disease on systemic inflammatory processes during pregnancy

Pilot Grant (Christian PI)

04/01/2009 – 03/31/2010

Total award: $30,000

The Ohio State University Center for Clinical and Translational Science

Adaptation of the Physiological Stress Response During Pregnancy

Provided initial start-up and additional neuroendocrine and immune analyses in the R21 described above

Pilot Grant (Iams PI)

9/01/2008-8/31/2010

Total award: $9,600

Kirwan Institute for Race and Ethnicity Small Grants Program

Stress, Health, and the Pregnancy Experience: The SHAPE Study

Examines physiological indicators of stress, including neuroendocrine and immune markers, among nonpregnant African-American and Caucasian women with a history of no, one, and two or more preterm births

Role: Co-Investigator

HONORS AND AWARDS2017 The 2017 FAME Career Development Award for Researchers

The OSU Center for Faculty Advancement, Mentoring, and Engagement (FAME) annually grants on a competitive basis, up to two awards for faculty members who demonstrate significant achievements that are attributable to participating in faculty development programming, directly put on by, or sponsored by, the Center for FAME. The honoree(s) are awarded with a $2500 honorarium and invited to present his or her achievements at a FAME Faculty Profiles Event, as well as recognized at an annual awards event.

2016 Academy of Behavioral Medicine Research Neal Miller Young Investigator Award

This award, established on the occasion of the 80th birthday of the Academy's most distinguished Fellow, is presented annually for imaginatively conceived and carefully conducted research.

2016 The Psychoneuroimmunology Research Society R. Ader New Investigator Award

This prestigious award is presented to an outstanding new research scientist who has made exciting basic science or clinical contributions to the field of PNI. The award honors Dr. Ader's innovation and creativity as a scientist and recognizes his contributions to the instantiation of PNI as a meaningful endeavor dedicated to the betterment of health and the prevention of disease.

2011 Academy of Behavioral Medicine Research Research Fellow

Competitive application to attend the two day "ABMR Research Camp", providing individual mentoring and conference attendance all expenses paid.

POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCHERS

Sima Finy, PhD: August 2017 – present

2017 American Psychosomatic Society Young Investigator Colloquium Scholar

Competitive application to attend a colloquium at the annual APS meeting, providing grant writing feedback and conference attendance ($500).

Amanda Mitchell, PhD: August 2015 – June 2017

2017 Trainee Scholar Award

Award for poster presentation at annual PNIRS meeting, providing $500 toward conference attendance.

2016 American Psychological Association Early Career Achievement Award

Award for early career achievements, providing $750 toward first time attendance at APA convention.

2016 Oral Presentation Award, Institute for Behavioral Medicine Research Day, The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center

Award for presentation conducted at the annual IBMR Day ($500).

2016 American Psychosomatic Society Young Investigator Colloquium Scholar

Competitive application to attend a colloquium at the annual APS meeting, providing grant writing feedback and conference attendance ($500).

Shannon Gillespie, PhD, RN: December 2015 – December 2016FUNDING

15th Anniversary Nurse Scientist Research Grant 10/1/2016-03/31/2018 Total award: $15,000
(Gillespie PI)

Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science/Organizational Partners

DNA methylation markers of preterm birth risk among asymptomatic African Americans

Examines patterns of DNA methylation, or chemical modifications of the genome, during asymptomatic pregnancy among African American women to identify potential biomarkers of preterm birth risk.

Nursing Research Grant 09/1/2016-08/31/2017 Total award: $10,000
(Gillespie PI)

American Nurses Foundation/Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science

DNA methylation markers of preterm birth risk among asymptomatic African Americans

Examines patterns of DNA methylation, or chemical modifications of the genome, during asymptomatic pregnancy among African American women to identify potential biomarkers of preterm birth risk.

AWARDS2016 University of Washington Summer Institute in Statistical Genetics Scholar

Competitive application to attend the "Introduction to R" and "Elements of R" modules, with module fees waived for accepted scholars ($900).

2016 Nominee, American Association of Colleges of Nursing Outstanding Dissertation/DNP Project *Chosen as nominee by The Ohio State University College of Nursing following competitive review.2016 Midwest Nursing Research Society Distinguished Abstract (Paper Presentation Division) *This designation is awarded to three abstracts following review of all abstracts submitted to the Midwest Nursing Research Society Annual Conference. Abstract: "An IL1RN polymorphism predicts early delivery among African American women."2016 Midwest Nursing Research Society Distinguished Paper Presenter *This designation is awarded to one abstract following review of all abstracts submitted for paper presentations at the Midwest Nursing Research Society Annual Conference. The distinguished paper presenter is invited to represent the regional society at the Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science State of the Science Congress. Abstract: "An IL1RN polymorphism predicts early delivery among African American women."2016 Sigma Theta Tau International (Epsilon Chapter) Graduate Student Award *This award is given to a graduate student who has demonstrated superior scholarship and leadership abilities while a student in the College of Nursing.2016 Midwest Nursing Research Society Graduate Research Award This award recognizes an outstanding graduate student who demonstrates the potential to contribute significantly to women's health and/or childbearing transitions research.

2014 The Ohio State University's Edward J. Ray Travel Award for Scholarship and Service

This award enables graduate students to present original research at professional conferences by reimbursing expenses incurred during travel. Judges give substantial weight to the applicant's service, academic standing, and professional goals.

 College of Dentistry
 Primary Mentor: Dimitris Tatakis, DDS

GRADUATE STUDENT RESEARCH ADVISOR

- 2017- present Chloe Beverly, Graduate Student, College of Public Health
 Project: Actigraphy-Assessed Sleep in Perinatal Women
- 2017- present Brittney Francis, Graduate Student, College of Public Health
 Project: Maternal Sleep and Shortened Gestation: Results from the Ohio Perinatal Research Network (OPRN)
- 2015 – 2016 Chloe Beverly, Graduate Student, College of Public Health
 Project: Effects of Prior Vaccination on Influenza Vaccine Immunogenicity in Pregnancy Resulting Products: a) 2nd authored publication in the journal "Vaccine" in 2017
 b) Poster presentation at the OSU IBMR Research Day (2016)

- 2015 – 2016 Jessica Saleska, Graduate Student, College of Public Health
Project: Socioeconomic Mobility in Relation to Mood and Health Behaviors in Pregnancy
Resulting Products: a) Poster presentation at the OSU IBMR Research Day (2016)
- 2015 – 2016 Genevieve Ritchie-Ewing, MA, Department of Anthropology
Project: Psychosocial Distress during Pregnancy as a Predictor of Postpartum Breastfeeding Resulting Product: a) Manuscript under review, submitted in Fall 2017
b) Poster presentation at the OSU IBMR Research Day (2016)

RESIDENT RESEARCH ADVISOR

- 2017- present Adam Jara, MD, Resident, Department of Psychiatry
Project: Effects of pregnancy and race on metabolic regulation Resulting Products: a) Manuscript in preparation for submission in January 2018
b) Pending poster presentation at ENDO 2018

MEDICAL STUDENT RESEARCH ADVISOR

- 2017-present Shannon Webber, BS, Medical Student, OSU College of Medicine
Project: Maternal Sleep Parameters and Shortened Gestation
Resulting Products: OSU COM Medical Student Research Scholarship Application
- 2014-2016 Melissa Brook, Medical Student, OSU College of Medicine
Project: Perceived Stress and Epstein-Barr Virus Reactivation in Appalachian Women Resulting Products: a) First authored-paper in Neuroimmunomodulation (2017)
b) Poster presentation at NAPCRG 2017
c) Poster presentation at OSUWMC Trainee Research Day
